High Tribute Paid Soldier At Youngsville

Full military rites in memory of Sgt. Stanley A. Davis, son of Archie G. Davis, Youngsville, were conducted by Halgren-Wilcox Post No. 638 last Thursday afternoon at two o'clock. Services at the family home on East Main street, were conducted by Rev. E. W. Chitester, pastor of Youngsville Methodist church.

Flags throughout the borough were flown at half-mast during the services. Sgt. Davis was the only resident of Youngsville borough to be returned for interment in the Youngsville cemetery.

Bearers were Earl Walter, Roy Crandell, Warren Kay, B. E. Campbell, Ernest Hendrickson and Henry Danielson. The color guard included Jack Wood, Keith Mead, Warren Kingsley and John McCanna.

The firing squad was commanded by Tony Spear and included Donald Barton, Cleon Wood, George Young, George Simpson, Harold Peterson, John Bull, J. Borton and Kenneth Retterer. The casket was in charge of J. E. Fleming and Herman Mower.

For graveside services, Clair Sconell acted as chaplain. Wilard Munson, first vice commander of Halgren-Wilcox Post, read a copy of the citation in which the Distinguished Service Cross was posthumously awarded to Sgt. Davis. Robert Hutley was bugler.

Many from out of town were in attendance at the services including a group of classmates of Sgt. Davis from Cleveland where he attended college.

Barbershop Parade Plans Progressing

Warren music lovers planning to attend the Barbershop Quartet Parade to be staged Saturday evening, October 9th, by the Warren Chapter of the S. P. E. B. S. Q. S. A., are advised to secure tickets as early as possible, since it is anticipated that both the Warren High School and Woman's Club will be filled to capacity for the programs.

The chorus as well as the local quartets, are busy rehearsing for the part they will take in the big musical show, as well as in the parade, to be held in Corry this weekend. The chorus, riding on a large trailer, proved one of the popular highlights of the Penna. Week parade last Saturday, giving thousands of persons their first opportunity to hear the Warren chapter.

Applications for tickets are in the hands of members and officers of the Chapter, and reserved seats will be mailed out to those requesting them.

According to the plans both the High School and Woman's Club will be used for the event. Ten of the outstanding quartets in Pennsylvania and New York are entered, as well as all the quartets in the Warren Chapter.

The committee announces that reserved seats have been mailed on all orders received to date. Applicants who do not receive tickets by Saturday are advised to contact the person through whom they made application. There are still good seats available, it was stated, but requests should be made immediately, since out-of-town orders are being filled. Tickets may be secured at the B. & B. Smoke Shop, Harold Swanson, at the "80" garage, or from any member of the chorus.

The same program will be presented at both the High school and the Woman's Club, patrons are reminded, and the proceeds from the "parade" will be donated to the War Memorial project, since the Barbershop society is a non-profit organization.

It was learned today that Station WREN at Buffalo, between 12:15 and 12:30 o'clock, will publicize the parade.

The chorus has plans complete for participating in the concert to be held in Corry next Saturday evening.

An important meeting of the executive board and the parade committee will be held Thursday evening and all members of these two groups are urged to attend.

Cooperative To Meet At Mayville, N. Y.

Members of the Dairyman's League Cooperative Association will hold their monthly sub-district meeting in Mayville, N. Y., on September 30.

Delegates from Chautauque, county, N. Y., and Warren county, will meet in the Mayville Center School at 8:00 p. m., according to A. Morella Cheney, Bemus Point, district league director.

The Young Cooperators, youth organization sponsored by the League, will be in charge of entertainment following transaction of regular monthly sub-district business.

This will be the last sub-district meeting of the League before the association's 29th annual membership meeting which will be held in Saratoga Springs, N. Y., October 12 to 14. Over 2,000 delegates, members and guests from the New York Milkshed are expected to attend the program.

FORESTS AND RECREATION

We are indebted to A. H. Volger, district forester, department of Forests and Waters, for the following interesting and informative article about our state forests:

Penn's Woods are the people's playground. Here are to be found quiet, rest, clean pleasure, and health renewed. In them are to be found the game and fish which help many people relax and enjoy the pleasures of the out of doors.

While the forest is growing timber it also furnishes to the town and city dwellers the refuge which attracts them when recreation time comes. Spending a part of every summer and fall in Penn's Woods is a privilege of all Pennsylvanians and a rare chance is lost if advantage of such an opportunity is passed up. There are few parks and recreation areas too far distant to make it too expensive or too difficult to reach, and enjoy what Nature prepared.

Forests protect and increase fish and wildlife. The more well managed forest areas we have, the more fish and game we can enjoy catching. Many thousands of acres which have received protection since the beginning of forest protection in Pennsylvania have increased wildlife populations.

Continued fires in brush, range or forest have not contributed to good forest practices but they have removed the fertilizing benefits of decaying vegetation, completely destroyed the moisture holding humous on the soil and permitted the various types of erosion to get under way to say nothing of the destruction of millions of seedlings which would have been today's home and industrial wood products.

Besides hunting and fishing, the State Forests offer year 'round recreation including skiing, and in one district golfing facilities are available.

Our pride and enjoyment in the pleasure derived from visiting our State Forests is echoed in the thousands of people who each year attend and enjoy the facilities of Penn's Woods. It can be truly stated the State Forests are the real playgrounds of the people. They are open to all the public. In order to maintain the forest lands of the Commonwealth and to develop the potentialities of all woodlands both for the pleasure and benefits of all alike, fires must be stopped, devastation must cease, and trees given the chance to grow. Every sportsman, every vacationist and every nature lover is, or should be a conscientious protector, believing and practicing the Conservation Pledge which aims to "Save and faithfully defend from waste the natural resources of our country."

During this Pennsylvania Week, the public is cordially invited to visit the local forestry office of the Pennsylvania Department of Forests and Waters at 201 Pennsylvania Avenue West.

Do you know what action is taken when a towerman sights a forest fire? You can find out if you visit the Sheffield Fire Tower out of Barnes, Pennsylvania, or the Wheeler Fire Tower at Hearts Content on Wednesday, September 28 or Saturday, October 2nd. These two towers will be open to public inspection, and interview with the towerman who are the eyes and ears of forest protection. This is your opportunity to learn how the protection organization in your State and local forest district functions to protect the forests from the ravages of fire. Your care and my care with fire in the forest, field or brush means more fish, wildlife and wood products for the present and the future.

The Warren County Pennsylvania Week Committee, at a meeting last evening, practically closed up details involving one of the finest celebrations this community has witnessed in many years. Due to the splendid response received in the financial solicitation, it was found that sufficient funds were available to meet all expenses. In addition all band organizations that participated will receive checks which should partially at least, reimburse them for taking part in the parade. The committee takes this means of expressing sincere appreciation for the wonderful cooperation received from citizens in Warren as well as all county communities.

Progress is being made on preliminary work in laying out the baseball diamond at the War Memorial Field and it is expected the new scoreboard will be ready for use at the next football game there. The Sports Boosters are making excellent headway in providing the community with a long-needed recreation and athletic field.

Our congratulations to the A. & P. Super Market, corner of Liberty street and Pennsylvania avenue, west, opening tomorrow after completion of extensive alterations and installations that make it one of the finest retail establishments in the entire section.

Here And There

This And That: John Newell tells us he was the first customer of the old Warren Light & Power Co., to use electricity for power in his original print shop founded over fifty years ago. The goal of the fourth annual campaign of the Community Chest of Titusville as announced by the board of directors will be $37,135, just $4.00 less than last year. Judge Mook last week at Mendville granted a preliminary injunction to a group of Crawford county dairy farmers ordering the Bureau of Animal Industry of the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture to stop all testing, quarantining, condemning and slaughtering of cattle in that county for the purposes of control of Bangs disease. Cold weather cut down the attendance at the Crawford county fair at Meadville Friday to a disappointing 3,000. The Titusville Herald blames the WNAE broadcast for keeping down the attendance at the Friday night game there—says the Herald: "While a large delegation of Warren fans followed the Dragons here, the crowd would have in all probability been larger had it not been for the fact that radio Station WNAE in Warren carried a complete play-by-play description of the contest and it was the first time a Titusville home football game ever was carried on the air waves. Kane's 1948 health season tapered off sharply with the second consecutive day of frost last week. Members of synagogues are completing plans for the high holidays which start at sundown October third. Many guesses have been made as to the number of persons who witnessed Saturday's parade and they range from 15,000 to 30,000—veterans who marched in the parade will tell you it was the largest ever to line the streets of Warren. Henry Birdsall Marsh of Penn Yan who won a $10,000 government prize for submitting the best design for a new Jamestown post office in 1940, died recently in the Soldiers and Sailors' home in Penn Yan, incidentally his plans will not be used when the new post office is erected since the government architects will draw up the specifications. Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Euerkle, Union street, had a pleasing and unusual experience Saturday afternoon at the farm home of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Walker, when they were privileged to see the Purdue-Notre Dame football game televised, and enjoyed seeing their son Alan, in the Purdue team. The near-million dollar construction program on transcontinental U. S. Route 6 west of Kane is slated for completion June 15, 1949, James Montgomery, general superintendent of F. D. Kessler, Inc., which has the contract, states. In case you're interested that celebration of Saturday afternoon and evening cost just about $1,600, financed by local business men and organizations, and according to all reports the contributors are satisfied the money was well spent.

The "Grand Canyon of Pennsylvania," in Harrison State Park near Wellsboro, has a gorge almost 50 miles long and more than 1000 feet deep at some points. Philadelphia and its suburbs today have a greater population than that of all the colonies at the end of the Revolutionary War.

YEARS AGO IN WARREN

Interesting Items Taken From The Warren Evening Times

1888

Dr. Samuel King of Warren, in an address before the 17th annual convention of the American Association for Medico-Physical Research in Chicago, urged physicians to break away from "fads and fancies" and practice the art of healing according to the best of their knowledge and truth. One hundred members of Epworth Methodist Episcopal Church attended a reception honoring their pastor, the Rev. J. G. Glander and his family, following his appointment to a local parish for the fourth year. N. J. Mangus was elected grand knight by the Warren Council, Knights of Columbus. Other officers named included George Cunningham, deputy grand knight; L. A. Casses, chancellor; A. C. Scallie, recorder; A. R. Morrison, treasurer; Jos. F. Grotzinger, financial secretary; H. R. Henderson, advocate; William C. Gettrich, Sr., S. B. A. Flohr, inside guard; William Gettrich, outside guard; John J. Casses, H. R. Henderson and John H. Janes, trustees. Here's what the fashion ads were saying: "It's color, color everywhere—dominant in the sphere of fashion. A twist of the fashion's ball of color and the rich dark tones appear—nature browns, a deep garnet, wine shades, blues, English green and gray."

A beautiful sky show—the aurora borealis—was reported by visitors at the Boy Scout Observatory on the east side. Beautiful pink and green colors were predominant, and the whole display was bright enough to cast shadows on the observatory. A gasoline price war was being waged in Erie. Prices generally were 18 cents a gallon, but some stations were offering petrol at 14 1/2 and 15 cents a gallon. Members of the Pine Grove Township school board voted to apply for government funds provided by the Thompson Bill to erect a larger school building at Russell. The Rev. D. E. Fye, pastor of the Sheffield Free Methodist church, was assigned to a new pastorate at Duke Center. He was succeeded at Sheffield by the Rev. Fred Smith. Chicago beat the Pittsburgh Pirates twice in a row to take the lead in the National League pennant race and drop the Bucs into the second place slot. Hank Greenburg was setting the home run pace with 58 round-trippers for Detroit. Mel Ott of the Giants was home run king of the National loop with 34.

Oil Worker Killed In Tractor Crash

Dewey H. Meabon, aged 50, of Route 2, Pleasantville, an employee of Paton Corp., was instantly killed about 4:30 p. m. yesterday when a tractor he was operating on the Farley & Dawson lease between the Pleasantville-Petroleum Center and Petroleum Center. His neck was broken and Dr. S. Gabreski, of Oil City, deputy coroner, issued a certificate of accidental death.

Mr. Meabon, Fred Loll, William Bauer, George Crawford, Carl Bauer and Lee Erick were cutting trees for a right of way across the property for an electric line and Mr. Meabon was operating the tractor in hauling trammed cut trees to be used for fuel in his home, about a quarter of a mile from where the accident occurred.

The other five men started for the Meabon home after Mr. Meabon had the tractor ready to make the haul and had gone only a short distance before they heard the crash of the tractor. Returning, they found Mr. Meabon lying beside the machine, which had crashed into a tree and was on its side. There was no mark on its body and Dr. Gabreski decided the man's back was broken when he was thrown to the ground.

The Flanders-Arnold ambulance was called from Titusville and as the driver entered the narrow road leading to the scene of the accident the automobile driven by Mrs. Meabon, the wife, was just ahead of him. She did not then know of the accident, but later was informed that her husband had been badly injured.

Mr. Meabon was well known in the Pleasantville-Petroleum Center locality and had lived there the past 24 years. Besides the wife, Mrs. Leta Sanford Meabon, five children survive: Mrs. Robert Carter, of Titusville; Mrs. William Dyke, of Erie; Miss Amy Joan Meabon, employed in a Titusville store; Harold and Evelyn Meabon, students in the Clarion State Teachers College. He also leaves the following brothers and sisters: James Meabon, of Grand Valley; Lloyd and Bruce Meabon, of Westfield, N. Y.; R. W. Meabon, of Lamartine; Howard Meabon, of Thorpe, Wash.; Claude Meabon, of Kellyville, Okla.; Mrs. John Groce, of Hillsville, Pa., and Miss Amy Meabon, of Burlington, N. C.

At the regular meeting of Halcyon-Wilcox Post No. 658, Youngsville American Legion, held Monday evening in the Legion Home, election of officers for the ensuing year resulted in the following being chosen:

Commander, Willard Munson; First Vice Commander, Warren R. Kingsley; Second Vice Commander, Cleon Wood; Adjutant, Donald Barton; Finance Officer, J. R. Thompson; Chaplain, Harold Thompson; Service Officer, Clair Hendrickson; Sergeant at Arms, George Young; Home Association, Clifford Sample and Raymond Barton, retiring Commander.

County WCTU Holds Convention And Plans For Coming State Gathering

The 74th annual convention of the Warren County WCTU was held at the Bethel Evangelical United Brethren church, with a registration of 104 and a split of cooperation and goodwill in evidence.

The convention theme was "Safeguard the Nation" and was based on Eph. 5:18, "Be not drunk with wine, but filled with the spirit."

Mrs. H. H. Barr had the morning devotion, Rev. Robert L. Inapp those of the afternoon session and Rev. Roger Morey in the evening. These devotional periods were all very inspiring, challenging the membership to greater work in the name of their Lord and giving them courage to go forward.

Convention speakers were Rev. James Kelly and Rev. Barnard Howe. Rev. Kelly spoke on "Things That Make for Peace," saying: "If we want peace, we must alter drastically our present aim of life." Rev. Howe spoke on "Safeguard the Youth," stating: "We must start to safeguard the children even before birth, and must teach by example rather than by word."

Officers were reelected to serve for another year: President, Mrs. Frank Kapp; vice president, Mrs. Mable Dallas; recording secretary, Mrs. Bessie Walters; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Watson Jamieson; treasurer, Mrs. Leslie Putnam.

Two solos, "My Cathedral" and

"Prayer Perfect" were very sweetly sung by Beverly Tate, representing youth of today. Other soloists of the day were Mrs. Ruth Lindquist, Mrs. Edna Duff and Mrs. Philip Maines. The convention theme song was "Be Loyal to America and America Will Be Loyal to You."

The president, Mrs. Frank Kapp, spoke on "Liquor Attacks the Nation," bringing out the statement that "alcohol cannot be termed a disease, since it is self-inflicted." She also asserted that "it is as if germs were on every street corner and in between and nothing is being done by the government to get rid of the germs."

The committee on resolutions brought in its report reading as follows: "1. Resolved, Loyalty to our Union and officers. 2. Resolved to oppose cigarette smoking and use of tobacco in any form and fight against this evil. 3. Resolved, To take steps to protect the youth from roadhouse evils and to strengthen the observance of the Lord's Day and to safeguard society from gambling evils. 4. Resolved, to agitate against liquor and vice and use publicity in every form to prevent manufacture and sale of alcoholic beverages."

Announcement was made that the state convention will be held in Erie from October 12th to 15th, First Baptist church, 135 West 10th street, and that Bishop Wilbur E. Hammaker, outstanding Christian leader and president of the board of temperance of the Methodist church, will be the Thursday evening speaker. James K. Leith, D. D., pastor of the United Presbyterian church of Indiana, Pa., and moderator of the Presbytery of Conemaugh, will address the convention on the opening night, with Dr. George F. Dunleberger, dean of the school of alcohol studies, Juniata College, for the past few years, as the banquet speaker.

A Quaker meeting house built in York, Pennsylvania, in 1765, is still used for Sunday services.

Hill And Dale Is Hostess to County Garden Club Units

Sugar Grove, Sept. 29—About 125 members of garden clubs of the county and invited friends gathered in Sugar Grove Methodist church, when the Hill and Dale Garden Club was hostess to clubs from Youngsville, Tidioute, Clarendon and Sheffield.

A luncheon supper was served in the church dining room, with tables attractively set with autumn flowers and foliage.

Rev. E. L. Bolling gave the invocation and group singing was led by Mrs. Frank Richmond, with Mrs. Karl Grettenberger at the piano.

The group then adjourned to the auditorium, where Mrs. Richmond announced a program opening with welcoming remarks by the president of the club, Mrs. Scott Stuart, Sr., and responses from the four clubs represented.

Arthur Briggs, of Russell, accompanied at the piano by his wife, played three violin selections, and Mrs. C. L. Ekdahl, accompanied by her daughter, Mrs. Scott Stuart, Jr., gave a reading, "The Courtship of Miles Standish."

Mrs. Stuart gave a talk on the Blue Star Memorial in Pennsylvania and spoke of the advantages of membership in the Garden Club Federation. A film, "Year in the Old Dirt Dauber's Garden," was shown by James Locoy, with Mrs. Richmond as reader. To conclude, all joined in singing "God Be With You 'Till We Meet Again."

Mrs. Richmond, with Mrs. Frances Dowd of Jamestown and Mrs. Dale Skinner of Lander, formed the general committee for the affair, with other members of the club comprising the kitchen and dining room committees.

Remodeled A. & P. Market Is Ready For Opening Thursday

A completely remodeled A. & P. Super Market will be unveiled to the public tomorrow at 10 o'clock a. m. when the store, which has been closed for the past several days, will again be ready to serve its hundreds of customers.

Lyle Morley, the store manager, stated that the following improvements have been made to make the A. & P. Super Market the last word in food store shopping convenience:

One of the outstanding features is the installation of the new Jane Parker pastry department. A complete bakery within the store, ready to serve you with oven-fresh baked goods of every description. In addition, there has been installed a new Holly Carter candy department, presenting a wonderful assortment of candies. Among the many other features of the store is the new refrigerated produce department, which is now ready to supply the people of Warren with fruits and vegetables kept at the peak of freshness by this new equipment. In addition, there has been installed a new and enlarged dairy department, complete with the latest type double-tier display cases making the selection of your favorite dairy products more convenient; new frosted food cases offering a wide variety of frozen fruits, vegetables, poultry and fish.

The shelving in the store is all new and the installation of fluorescent lighting throughout is marvelous to see.

Mr. Morley said, "The new enlarged coffee department, along with the two additional check-outs, in all, makes this store one of the most modern Super Markets in this area."

Shoppers in a hurry will welcome the installation of an express register for persons with six items or less.

Roy Connor, superintendent of the Buffalo division, was assisted by skilled specialists from A. & P. headquarters in the installation of the new equipment and arrangement of merchandise.

The remodeling work provides 8,000 square feet of space for the store, and 6,000 additional square feet for storage space.

Assisting Manager Morley in operation of the store are Don Currie, assistant manager; Harold Nelson, meat department manager; Herman Darragh, bookkeeper; Earl Huber, produce department manager; Charles Westland, bakery department manager; and Syl Chladko, dairy department manager.

In addition, many new employees have been added to the staff. The new entrance to the store will be on the corner of Pennsylvania avenue and Liberty street instead of in the middle of the north side of the building as formerly. Entrance to the upstairs apartments and offices will be on the Liberty street side just south of the corner entrance to the store.

New show windows have been installed across the entire front of the building.

Market Quotations

New York, Sept. 29. (AP)—Stocks remained steady in a quiet market today. Business diminished rapidly after the usual rush at the opening and only a few blocks of stock were sold. Oils were fairly active and maintained a market leadership they assumed yesterday after Phillips petroleum announced an increase in its crude buying price. Other major marketers indicated they would not follow the lead unless forced by competition.

Expansion Program At James Store

James Jewellers today disclosed details of an expansion program which includes the addition of International Sterling Silver to their line of merchandise and also enlargement of their store at 303 Second avenue.

Special display cases have been installed to display the solid silver ware. They are of thick glass, and low enough so that a customer may sit in a comfortable chair and leisurely study the patterns. Complete place settings of each pattern are mounted on small trays which may be taken out of the case for closer inspection.

It was pointed out that persons who are planning to purchase solid silver may either buy the complete service as a unit or may buy one complete place setting of six pieces (trench knife and fork, teaspoon, butter spreader, soup spoon and salad fork) at moderate cost and add other place settings later until the set is complete.

Along with the International Silver, James Jewellers also carry a complete line of silver plated ware.

The enlargement of the store-room of James Jewellers was made possible by turning over a partition at the rear of the store. This added an additional 10 feet to the store-room. A complete new Parker pencil display case has been added to the facilities of the store, and now occupies a prominent place in the center of the floor. The new Sterling Silver show cases occupy much of the new space at the rear of the showroom, and modern new show cases, with indirect lighting, have been placed against the rear wall. These cases are being used to display complete sets of silverware, and various types of silver trays, coffee and tea sets and other types of holloware.

James Jewellers has issued a cordial invitation to the general public to stop by and inspect the new layout of the store and their new merchandise.

Consultation Quarters For Attorneys

A new attorney's consultation room in the Court House will be part of the premises to be inspected by the public at the open house being given by county officials on Friday evening from seven to ten o'clock in conjunction with Pennsylvania Week.

Until now, Warren was one of the few counties in the state which did not provide a room where attorneys might consult with their clients during the course of court business. The room is to the right of the bench room and was formerly occupied by the county vocational office.

It will present a most attractive appearance with walls of Williamsburg blue, white ceiling and walnut woodwork. A rich burgundy rug and red leather davenport and chairs will complement the color scheme. Along one wall will be a large walnut glass door bookcase.

Investigation of the accident was made by State Police from Erie, who by chance, were driving a patrol car along Route 6 a short distance behind Mrs. Tremley's machine.

CLEVELAND HAS A GANGLAND SLAYING

Cleveland, Sept. 29. (AP)—A 31-year-old police figure was killed in gangland fashion early today by a gunman.

The victim was Sam Monachino, who fell in the gutter before his home with wounds in his back, arm, hip and cheek.

His wife, Margaret, 25, told police she heard him scream "honey" as the first shots were fired in front of their home. She ran outside, she said, and saw a man pursuing her husband and firing at him.

The man drove away in a black sedan, she added.

Monachino, a former cafe operator, had been questioned by police in numerous cases and once was acquitted of murder charges.

Long-Range Program For Mentally Ill

A training program for psychiatrists and other professional personnel who will be needed for the state's long-range program for the care of mentally ill persons was urged today by Dr. L. E. Chapman, state senator from Warren.

Dr. Chapman, who returned home today from a meeting of the Joint State Government Commission in Harrisburg, said he is in hearty agreement with Gov. James H. Duff in his plans to augment state hospital facilities, but pointed out that the great majority of the qualified psychiatrists in Pennsylvania are now affiliated with the state hospitals and that many more will be needed before the full mental institution program can be placed in full force. He said the same situation also applies to other trained personnel which will be needed for the program.

Dr. Chapman said he has written Gov. Duff, calling attention to the pressing need for an adequate training program.

Chapter 19

IT WAS an hour or two later when Sheriff Loomis and Deputy McCabe rode into town. Jed reached the doorway when they had passed. He cupped his hands around his mouth and yelled.

"Sheriff!"

"S'matter, Jed?" Loomis asked.

"Will you come inside a minute, please?"

"Want me, too?" McCabe asked.

"Yeah," the Sheriff answered. "Mebbe you'd better sit in on this too, Pat."

McCabe dismounted . . . he followed Loomis and Oliver into the bank. Jed went at once to the ledger, opened it.

"See that?" he asked.

"Sure," Loomis said. "What's it supposed to be?"

"It's a ledger page," he said. "There was an entry in his voice. 'It's the account of George Akers.'"

"Oh," Buck said. "George Akers, eh?"

"Yos," Jed said. "See that deposit figure there?"

He pointed to it and both Buck and Pat bent over.

"Five thousand dollars deposited to his credit, today," Oliver said. "Does that mean anything to you?"

"You're darned tootin' it does," Loomis said quickly. "When was he here?"

"He sent it in."

"A young woman brought the deposit. A very pretty young woman, too. I might add. A Mrs. Gay Hollis."

McCabe turned to the Sheriff.

"Hey, that just about ties things up, don't it?"

"Un-huh," Buck said, nodding. "Mister Akers is where I wouldn't be, headin' for a hangin'. Come on, Pat."

IT WAS evening. Gay and George had just seated themselves at the table. Gay having returned from town but minutes before. Cathy moved about in her usual quiet and efficient way. She served Gay, placed George's plate in front of him, brought her own plate to the table and sat down facing them. She picked up her fork, glanced at her sister.

"Gay," she said, "what made you go off to town so suddenly?"

"O-h," she answered. "I had something to attend to in town."

There was a sudden clatter of hoofs and the three of them looked up as one. George put down his knife and fork.

"I'd better see who it is," she said and she went to the kitchen door. She opened it. Two tall figures filled the doorway. "George," Cathy said over her shoulder. "It's the Sheriff."

Loomis pushed into the kitchen. "S'matter?" George asked and then he was red and angry. "Think up some more questions?"

"Akers. I understand you deposited five thousand dollars in the bank today."

George's head jerked upward in surprise, but he managed to check and control himself.

"O-h," he said.

"I'd like to know where you got that dough," Buck concluded.

George smiled coldly.

"Borrowed it," he said and he smiled again, almost menacingly.

"I suppose you can prove you borrowed that five thousand, can't you?"

"I don't aim to prove anything," George said angrily. "If you're chargin' me with anything, it's up to you to do the provin'."

They eyes clashed, but the Sheriff's did not waver.

Sheriff Loomis shrugged his shoulder.

"Y'understand, Akers, that you're actu'ly forcin' me to take you in, don't you?" he asked.

"Sheriff," Gay said suddenly, and all eyes turned to her.

"Ma'am."

"The money was mine," she said quietly.

Loomis coughed lightly behind his hand.

"Uh-huh," he said. "I know you deposited the money for him. Ma'am. And if as you say, it was your money, why'd you let him take it? He say so 'stead of actin' so dang'd mysterious about it?"

"Because he didn't know anything about it."

Loomis's eyebrows arched.

"I offered to lend it to George," she went on presently. "But he refused it."

"And then what?"

The color had returned to Gay's face and she seemed considerably more at ease.

"I offered to lend it to George," she said. "When I told him that I had it here, in the house, he suggested that in view of things, it would be wiser and of course safer if I put it in the bank as quickly as possible."

"I see."

"I decided to take it to the bank without further delay. While Mr. Oliver was entering the deposit in my name. I asked him to credit it to George's account."

"Even though George didn't want it?"

"Yes."

"Where'd you get that money?"

"From my husband," Gay explained gently. "It was the money I got for our place in Texas."

Chapter 20

EARLY the next morning Phil Martin was buried in the fenced-off clearing on the fringe of the grove of tall cotton-wood trees beyond the big house.

George and Cathy joined Nettie on one side of the already dug grave. The coffin was unloaded and placed beside it. The punchers stood on the opposite side. Gay, her head bowed, stood behind the punchers. Ropes were slung under the coffin. Cathy nudged George and he turned to her.

"Say something," she whispered. "You must."

"That was sweet of you, George," Cathy said.

He stopped, looked down at her, patted her shoulder, then he stepped past her and strode off toward the corral.

GAY was standing at the window in their bedroom when Cathy entered. Gay did not turn. Cathy stood beside her for a moment.

"When is she leaving?" Gay asked presently.

"She isn't leaving," Cathy answered.

Gay looked at her quickly.

"George asked her to stay," Cathy went on. "I think it was the only decent thing to do. She accepted."

There was no comment from Gay.

"Cathy," Gay said and Cathy turned toward her again. "Phil was in love with me. You didn't know that, did you?"

"No," Cathy said. "I didn't actually know it, even though I did feel that there was something between you two."

"What do you mean?"

"Well, it was after you returned from that night in the shack. I noticed that George wasn't so cordial toward you after that, then I began to suspect that perhaps everything wasn't just the way it was supposed to appear, or at least the way George said it was. I knew you'd never cared much for George. You said as much once. So it had to be Phil."

"I see."

"Do you think Nettie suspected anything?"

Gay shrugged a slender shoulder.

"I don't know," she answered. "However, I've had an idea for some time now that she suspected something but that she wasn't quite sure."

"Perhaps that's why she looked at you so. Or perhaps that's why you imagined she looked at you," Cathy said. "I wonder if Phil ever told her anything?"

"I don't think so." She got to her feet. "Cathy, I'm going away."

"But where will you go?"

"O-h, I'll find a place, never fear. It won't have to be much because anywhere at all will be better than staying here with her so near me. I couldn't stand that for long."

"Perhaps it would be wisest."

"Of course."

"When do you plan to go?"

"The sooner the better. Probably tomorrow," Gay said. "Right now I think I'll go for a ride. The air and the exercise will do me good."

Cathy followed her to the door. "You'll be back for dinner, won't you?" she asked.

"I really don't know. The way I feel now, food doesn't sound particularly appealing. However, maybe after I've been out for a while, I'll feel differently. But don't worry about me. I'll be all right."

Mr. Walter Hampden inaugurates the new radio series, GREAT SCENES FROM GREAT PLAYS, Friday, October 1, at 8 P. M. over all Mutual stations. The production is Cyrano de Bergerac, a role which Mr. Hampden has played more than 1000 times on the stage. Photo shows the dramatic climax of the play... "My White Plume!"

The new series is sponsored by the National Council of the Episcopal Church with the Episcopal Actors' Guild cooperating. It will be broadcast weekly at the same time, bringing great stars of stage and screen in fine dramatic productions.

"Great Scenes From Great Plays", an entirely new departure in religious radio programs, sponsored by the Episcopal families of Warren, will be broadcast for the first time on Friday evening, October 1, from 8:00 to 8:30 p. m. Eastern Standard Time over Station WVAE-FM and every Friday evening thereafter.

"Cyrano de Bergerac", Edmund Rostand's timeless drama of self-denial, starring the beloved veteran actor Walter Hampden, who created the part of the daring, poet and philosopher Cyrano in more than 1,000 stage performances, will be the first "Great Play" to be broadcast coast-to-coast over 500 stations of the Mutual Broadcasting System. This unusual radio series is produced by the National Council of the Protestant Episcopal Church with the cooperation of the 800 members of the Episcopal Actors' Guild. Mr. Hampden will act as host for all subsequent programs.

A radical departure from the usual religious programs, "Great Scenes From Great Plays" is aimed directly at approximately 70,000,000 Americans who have no church affiliation, as well as those other millions who have allowed their church affiliation to lapse.

Plays for broadcasting on successive Friday evenings during the ensuing months have been carefully selected by the National Council.

Russell GLF Patrons Hear Talk On Feed

Russell, Sept. 30—Northeastern farmers can save money on feed by making heavy use of home-grown grains now, rather than next winter when feed costs are expected to be lower as a result of the new 3½ billion bushel corn crop, Cecil Osbeck, G. L. F. district manager, declared last night at the annual meeting of Russell patrons of G. L. F. at the Akley Grange Hall. Russell Farm Service is the local agent-buyer.

The finest grain crop in years is being harvested in G. L. F. territory, Mr. Osbeck said, pointing out that this, together with the greatest grain crop in all U. S. history, leaves little doubt but that poultrymen and dairymen will have reasonable feed prices this winter.

"We will not get the full effect of these large grain crops until October when new corn moves to market in heavy volume," the district manager said, adding that "old corn is still scarce and high-priced, and as a result, is tending to hold feed prices from declining to government support levels."

The best time to make full use of home-grown grains is now, Mr. Osbeck emphasized, urging that new oats and wheat be substituted for corn in scratch grain, dairy rations and poultry mash.

Through the use of home-grown grains, Mr. Osbeck declared, farmers can reduce their feed purchases and cut production costs to better advantage this fall than later on in winter as, barring unforeseen disaster to the corn crop, feed prices should be lower in the winter months.

Carl Peterson of Russell, president over the meeting as chairman of the patrons' committee. A report on the past year's operations of G. L. F. was given by Mr. Osbeck. The program also included the showing of a full-color, sound motion picture entitled "From These Roots," which depicts the story of how farmers have worked together from the barn raisings of early days on down to their modern co-operatives which they use to secure their farm production supplies and to sell farm products.

A booklet handed out at the meeting pointed out that "Northeastern farms are factories" and that their principal job is turning grass and grain into high test foods.

Additional Data On Rent Forms Issued

For landlords who own four or less dwelling units and who do not keep complete records, the new short form petition for increasing rent on hardship grounds is ideally suited, Area Rent Director Frank S. Anderson said today. The previous hardship petition form is still available, although in Mr. Anderson's judgment it generally can be used more effectively by landlords who operate extensive rental properties.

To fill out the short form, a landlord must show tax bills, and he may, if he chooses, show either receipted bills for insurance premiums, fuel and utilities or signed statements from the companies concerned. He may only show increased expenses on one or more of the four items (taxes, insurance, fuel and utilities)—and no others—in the current year as contrasted with a previous average base year.

Following are the figures submitted by a typical landlord, owner of two rental units:

Item	Average Base Year	Current Year
Taxes	$ 53.21	$ 66.61
Fuel	91.16	120.46
Utilities	38.13	42.00
Insurance ...	21.62	27.02
Total	$204.17	$256.09

By subtracting the total for the average base year ($204.17) from the total expense for the current year ($256.09), the rent office found a difference of $51.92. This represents the excess of current expenses over similar expenses during the base year to which the landlord is entitled, by law to add to his rental revenues.

By dividing the hardship item of $51.92 by the total scheduled rental in come of $528.00 the rent office found that the landlord was entitled to an approximate 9.83 per cent more rent, so as to make the ratio between the current income and current expenses as favorable as that ratio was during the base year. Then by adding the above approved 9.83 hardship percentage to the present rentals of $22.00 on each of the two rental units, the landlord will be authorized to increase the present monthly rent on each unit by $2.25.

John Fitch first ran a boat powered by steam on a pond near Davisville, Pennsylvania, in 1785, and later on the Delaware river.

from the barn raisings of early days on down to their modern co-operatives which they use to secure their farm production supplies and to sell farm products.

A booklet handed out at the meeting pointed out that "Northeastern farms are factories" and that their principal job is turning grass and grain into high test foods.

Celebration Committee is Closing Books

At a meeting of the Warren County Pennsylvania Week Committee held last evening in the VFW Post rooms for the purpose of mapping plans to close up the project so far as the group was concerned, it was learned that sufficient funds had been secured by the active soliciting committee to pay all bills, as well as to reimburse to some extent all band organizations that participated, as well as to make a donation to the "canteen fund" of Company I.

All bills were submitted and ordered paid from the fund of approximately $1,700 received from local firms and business men.

The committee went on record as expressing sincere appreciation for whole-hearted cooperation received in every way including contributors, musical organizations, business firms, clubs and societies that were represented in the parade, in the borough and throughout the county, as well as both the local and state police as well as the guard companies.

It was decided that the books will not be closed until a later meeting when it is expected that movies taken during the parade will be shown to the committee and invited guest. This will be held at the VFW rooms and the date will be announced later.

This is Pennsylvania Week

WHAT ARE YOU
DOING ABOUT IT?

This is not just "another week." Pennsylvania Week is a State-wide celebration designed to arouse Pennsylvanians to the need of doing something to boost their State and invite new industries to locate here.

Its slogan is "It's Your Pennsylvania—Keep It Growing."

The best way for any of us to help Pennsylvania is to help our own community.

If we can do something to make it more attractive to new residents and new plants, we are helping ourselves and helping Pennsylvania.

If we do something to attract more tourist and recreation business, we are helping our State. (The tourist and recreation business is Pennsylvania's fourth biggest industry.)

Know Your State and Your Community.

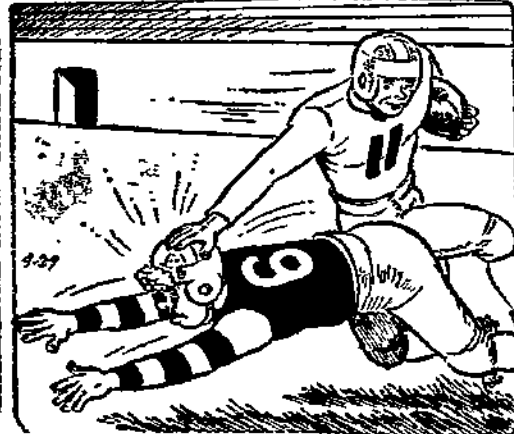

IT'S YOUR PENNSYLVANIA—KEEP IT GROWING

Additions To U. S. Forest Service Here

Two new additions to the U. S. Forestry staff here were announced this week by district ranger Laurence Stotz.

William W. Wentz has been assigned here as assistant ranger, taking the place of William Stittler who has been transferred to the Monongahela National Forest in West Virginia where he has been promoted to district ranger.

Also coming here is Orville E. Lind who will become the new timber management assistant in this northern district. This will be Lind's first assignment east of the Mississippi river. He received his Bachelor of Science in Forestry at the University of Minnesota in 1947 and has worked in the Black Hills National Forest, South Dakota, and the Grand Mesa National Forest in Colorado and Idaho before coming to Pennsylvania.

Wentz, a native of Philadelphia, spent almost four years logging and surveying for the Army in the Pacific theatre during the war. He received his BSF degree from Penn State in 1946.

He entered the Forest Service as assistant to A. C. VanNort, district ranger at Marienville in 1946. Since then he has spent considerable time surveying pulpwood cutting in South Carolina, Washington and Pennsylvania.

His family will arrive here to make their home shortly after Oct. 1.—Sheffield Observer.

Four Warren Co. War Dead On Transport

The department of the army has advised the Times-Mirror that four Warren county war dead are among the 3,536 returned aboard the army transport USS Morris E. Crain, which has docked at San Francisco and is the 11th funeral ship to arrive from the Pacific since the repatriation program got under way last October.

The Crain's war dead list contains these names: Cpl. Clinton A. Bliss, army, 1007 Conewango avenue; Sgt. Richard E. Goodard, army, Chancellors Valley; Pvt. Fred I. Morley, army, and Sgt. Joseph T. Orinko, air force, both of Sheffield.

Announcement that these men are en route home for final interment has been made in each individual case, although some time will probably elapse before further notification is received from distribution centers.
